

Reading and prayer 11th November 2020

God has rescued us from the power of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of his beloved Son, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins. He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation; for in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers—all things have been created through him and for him. He himself is before all things, and in him all things hold together. He is the head of the body, the church; he is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, so that he might come to have first place in everything. For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell.

Colossians 1:13-19

Father Almighty, we give thanks that you have revealed yourself to us through Jesus, who has become our Saviour and friend. In him and through him, we have been transferred us from a kingdom where there is no light to a kingdom which is only light. We have been given the eyes of faith to see you; in the wonders of your hand, in all of creation and in our changed lives. May we ever keep our eyes fixed on Him who is ever worthy to be praised and adored. Amen
